A “Tree-t” of a Day: 10,000 Trees for the Rouge 2017

On Sunday, April 23, 2017, members of the 1st University Rover Crew (and friends) woke up bright and early to participate in the annual tree planting event hosted by 10,000 Trees for the Rouge.

This year’s event happened at the south west corner of McCowan Road and Highway 7, so we met up at the East Side Mario’s at the Markville Mall. Pictured to the right is some of our advisor Chris’s planting gear, nice and clean before seeing any action!

We began the day with some instructions on planting techniques to ensure optimal tree survival. One tip was to break up the dirt before filling in holes we dug, in order to avoid air pockets where tree roots would not be in contact with the soil. In the following picture, we were all listening intently.

Soon, it our chance to put learning into action. The first site we were at was moist enough that we didn’t have to water the trees afterward, which made our jobs a lot easier. You can tell that we were just starting out in the photos below since our gloves are still clean. As the day progressed, this would soon change. Reagan was feeling particularly adventurous and somehow managed to stay dirt-free despite no gloves, and wearing socks and sandals!

Our next site was a lot muddier. Planters young and old were getting stuck in the mud, and in my attempt to help one unfortunate Beaver extract her boot from the mud, I soon landed in it myself! No pictures were taken here because it was a real struggle just to make it out upright.

Eventually, we moved on to our third and last site, which was thankfully a lot less muddy. Here, many Cubs were helping out, and requested our assistance with digging larger holes for larger trees. They were quite a talkative bunch and seemed to be enjoying themselves.

At the end of the planting, we were rewarded for our efforts with a burger lunch, as well as some additional dishes that members brought, such as Kirby's excellent potato salad. All in all, it was a great morning making our community a little greener. Everyone was all smiles as we headed off on our separate ways.

Camping in my Dorm

I recently came back from my first year at the University of Guelph. University was an eye-opening and humbling experience, not only because of all the changes in scenery and habit, but because of the need for my independence. I had to adopt new routines and learn to care for myself, which was a challenge in itself. But despite that, what came to me in one of my darker moments, or as you will later learn, my brightest moments, were skills that I had developed from my times as a Scout...but not applied in a situation you may expect.

My roommate and I were assigned to a room intended for a single person, and unfortunately, the room had enormous, curtain-less windows. During times of peak sunlight, we got the full sunlight experience. The light reached every corner—every nook and cranny of our room. Not only that, but the sunlight would reflect off every shiny/ white surface...and that was pretty much our entire room. It was incapacitating. During the brightest hours of the day when we were living in a disco ball, it was blinding. During the other times of the day, it was just plain bright.

However, my roommate and I did not find the need to resolve this issue since we had classes during most of those times. But when night came, all the light from passing cars and street lights would illuminate our room. For me personally, it was difficult to fall asleep when the room was so bright. Being a biology major, I'm big on the idea that artificial light at night inhibits the release of melatonin, which is a hormone vital for sleep. I found myself spending a lot of time lying awake in bed, trying to fall asleep. Soon it became difficult to get up for my 8:30am lectures because I would fall asleep so much later. So one night as I lay in bed, my mind started racing, thinking of practical solutions to this light problem. I considered wearing a sleeping mask or covering up the windows. But after a little more thought, something came to mind. My ideas are sometimes a bit unorthodox, but in this case, I thought it was practical.

I decided, "Why not have some fun while I'm here at university?"

"Why not build a tent?!"

So, I did.

Camelot Moot

Hail to thee!

It was the 5th day of the 5th month in the year two thousand seventeen, eleven thousand and one hundred twenty-one cycles since the recantation of the mighty King Arthur.

On this day, the great moot of Camelot, entered the first part in its tale.

Although the registration of our fine participants in our tournament of wit, cunning, and strength, was met with bitter weather. The Knights (Rovers) Squires (Rovers not yet knighted) and Fledglings (ventures) persevered forth. Many rested their heads in the barracks of Kitchie Kah Soo Kin Eskayo, (Kitchie lodge Camp Samac) but many chose to rest in the Field surrounding. The evening found a round of events run for simple entertainment which were quite well received.

On the morn of the 6th found the official opening, the breaking of the flag, and the announcements by our King, Arthur (Michelle Mokedanz) and the esteemed Knights and wizard on the round table of Camelot. Following shortly after, beheld a set of tasks and quests undertaken by brave Lords and Lady's, and common folk alike. The office chair jousting tournament was particularly well attended though many other events ran in kind; the perilous stealing of candy from a sleeping dragon, the taxing race of the maidens, the grueling running of the scrolls, the risky blind sword fighting, the tricky axe and knife throwing, the challenging spear throwing, and the throwing of thy Holy hand grenade. After everyone had feasted the treasured scavenger hunt was marked. Then upon the evening when the bells of dusk rang a Masquerade dance was held within Council Hall, as many spun on late into the night.

The morn of the 7th lead with the sad tidings that the excitement must come to an end, as all gathered for the traditional scouts own, and closing ceremony. Nay, but not all was sad for the end. The presentation of Lady Guinevere's crown then the bestowal of the mighty shield of Camelot and many a prize for the Champions one and all. Eight at the end, the final announcement, there was a pause, just as those brave competitors, those brave Scouts, began to wonder of the announcement of Camelot moot 2018, until it was called out to the masses:

We are taking the hobbits to Camelot!

Quest for the One Ring.

May 4-6th Weekend 2018

With uplifted spirits, I say Farewell, good travels, and may you carry your head high.
Until next year,

The round table of Camelot,
and from within the Nobel ranks of scouting,

Lord Merlin

Court Sorcerer (Jessica Mokedanz)

P.S.

"My sincerest thank you to all involved,"

Bruce Trail Conservancy Hiking Badges

While most people are aware of the end to end badge for completing the entire trail, you can complete smaller sections and receive a section's badge for your accomplishment. Each of the Nine Section Clubs: Niagara, Iroquoia, Toronto, Caledon Hills, Dufferin Hi-Land, Blue Mountain, Beaver Valley, Sydenham and Peninsula Clubs have badges for completing their own section end to end as well as badges for other criteria.

The Caledon Hills Section Club of the BTC has several badges for: completing the section end to end, annual weekend completion of the main trail end to end, completing the side trails, a Nature Hunter Badge for students, and the New Historical Hike Badge for Canada's 150th Birthday.

The 150th Badge requires 5 hikes covering a minimum of 53 kilometres, and requires taking photos of historical structures, trail markers and scenery along the way.

The Nature Hunter Badge requirements were developed by the students of Belfountain Public School. The badge is earned by taking photos of 3 different flowers and 3 different trees. The flowers and trees must be identified and a report written on their life cycles. The badge costs $5, but can be purchased for $3 if the student includes a photo of a fossil. Suitable for Cub Scouts and Scouts.

I chose this year to complete Caledon Hill's Sideways Badge requiring a minimum 42 kilometres as my spring and summer challenge to get me out hiking on a regular basis. Completing the 14 Side Trails takes you to some of the best hiking areas of the Bruce Trail within the Caledon Hills section.

During my hikes I've met a trail maintenance captain which may result in future service projects for my Venturer Company and a group of Rangers hiking as part of their Duke of Edinburg Award requirements who may become subscribers to this magazine. On the Victoria Day Long Weekend, I met two visitors from Jamaica hiking the Trimble Side Trail and had the pleasure of answering their questions on the nature of Canada to the best of my ability.

Your council may have hiking completions on local trails such as the Alders Challenge in Greater Toronto Council for Scouts and Venturer Scouts. For over thirty years, Scouts have been hiking the Bruce Trail as part the Alders Challenge.

For decades the Yeoman Hike brought Rovers onto the Bruce Trail annually for a 25 kilometre, two day self-contained competition until the 1990's. Our crew required a hike as part of investiture requirements. The hike was my first backpacking trip on the Bruce Trail back in 1977. That year more than 30 two man teams competed, and it was the largest gathering of Rovers, other than at a Moot for Toronto and surrounding area Rovers.

Consider including the local Trail Badge or Award program as part of completing your Outdoor Adventure Skills requirements or in conjunction with your Duke of Edinburg Journey.

Trail organizations are always looking for volunteers to maintain or improve trails. Take a hike and take advantage of a service opportunity.

For those looking for a campsite on the Bruce Trail, a new site has recently opened with space for at least three tents and includes a thunder box. Sorry no open fires or water on site. See BTC map 18 near kilometer 49.4, watch for the Hockley Hollow Side Trail sign, isn't currently marked on the 28th Edition.

Hope to see you the trail!

Holy Hand Grenade at Camelot 2017, "1, 2, 4, I mean 3!"

The idea of "Scout Scarf Day" on August 1 is that all active and former scouts are requested to wear their scout scarfs in public to make the "Spirit of Scouting" visible: Once a Scout - Always a Scout!

The date of the event commemorates the very first Scout Camp on Brownsea Island in 1907.

Of course, the scarf is only a symbol but a strong symbol for the scout promise and for our mission to leave the world as a bit better a place than we had found it.

International Roverway 2018 in The Netherlands

Scouting Nederland will organize the 2018 edition of the international event Roverway at the new International Scout and Guide Centre Zeewolde, where scouts between 16 to 22 years old from all over Europe will participate. The World Organization of the Scout Movement (WOSM) and World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts (WAGGGS) support the ideas and plans of Scouting Nederland for a challenging international Rover event.

Roverway and the Sea Scout event Nawaka in a challenging summer of Scouting

The summer of 2018 promises a summer full of scouting and guiding events in The Netherlands, with Roverway and also the biggest Sea Scout event of Europe: Nawaka. Both events taking place at International Scout and Guide Centre Zeewolde. The organization of both events will start in the coming months and cooperation will be sought where possible. One of the goals of Roverway to have every participant sail the Dutch waters at least once during the event.
